ROY L. STOBAUGH, SUPERINTENDENT
HUGHES, ARKANSAS

1967-1968

Busy citizens help to mold policies of our school as they serve as members of the Hughes Board of Education. Dedicated teachers and administrators play an important role in the instructional program of the school. Students who are interested in learning help to strengthen this program. However, it takes all of these groups working together to give us the kind of school we want.

The responsibility of the total program is great, but the burden of this is lightened when we see that progress is made.

In our changing world it is necessary to have a good education. It is my wish that each student and school patron will feel that our school is the center of this community and that it is serving the purpose for which it was established.

Sincerely yours,

Roy L. Stobaugh

Dear Students,

It was certainly no easy job choosing "Most Beautiful" and "Most Handsome" from the fine looking group of photographs
I received. It was only after lengthy deliberation that we were able to come up with these

READERS AT WORK

One of the innovations at Hughes School during the 1967-68 school year was the addition of a reading laboratory where boys and girls were able to improve their reading. Here they are at work.
