NORMAL?

*The 1987 Blue Devil
Volume 37
Hughes High School*

Why	Be
Nor-	mal?

You come to school at 8:00, you leave at 3:00. Everyone has seven class periods, including English. Lunch is on schedule; homework's like clockwork . . . Hum, drum, Hum, drum . . .

What's the challenge, where's the fun? WHY BE NORMAL? Why be normal when you can be better than normal. We observed throughout and found that Hughes has lots of "more than normal" people. That includes people standing on their heads, strange haircuts, even strange clothes, but it also includes students who are "more than normal" because they excel. Our school has band trophies, sports trophies, math awards, music honors, and more to show that here at Hughes we answer the question "Why Be Normal?" We do this by meeting the challenge of being better than normal!!

Top Right: Cheryl is helping Laura, or vice-versa?

Left: All dressed up for Prom Night. (Are you kidding?)

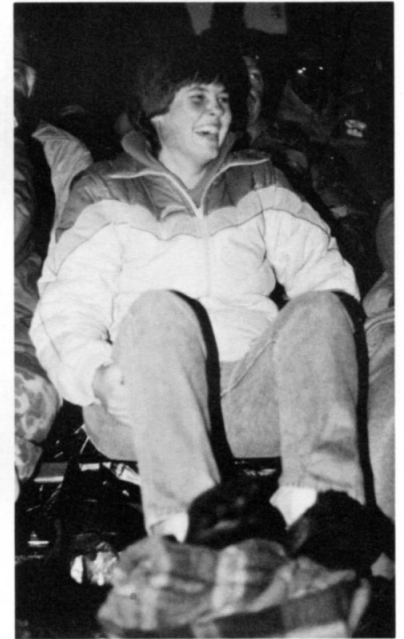

Left: At the time of our last deadline we were unsure as to what this group of girls was doing. Perhaps an ancient egyptian ceremony?!

Below: Sure, Coach Crawford, everyone wears gloves on their feet!

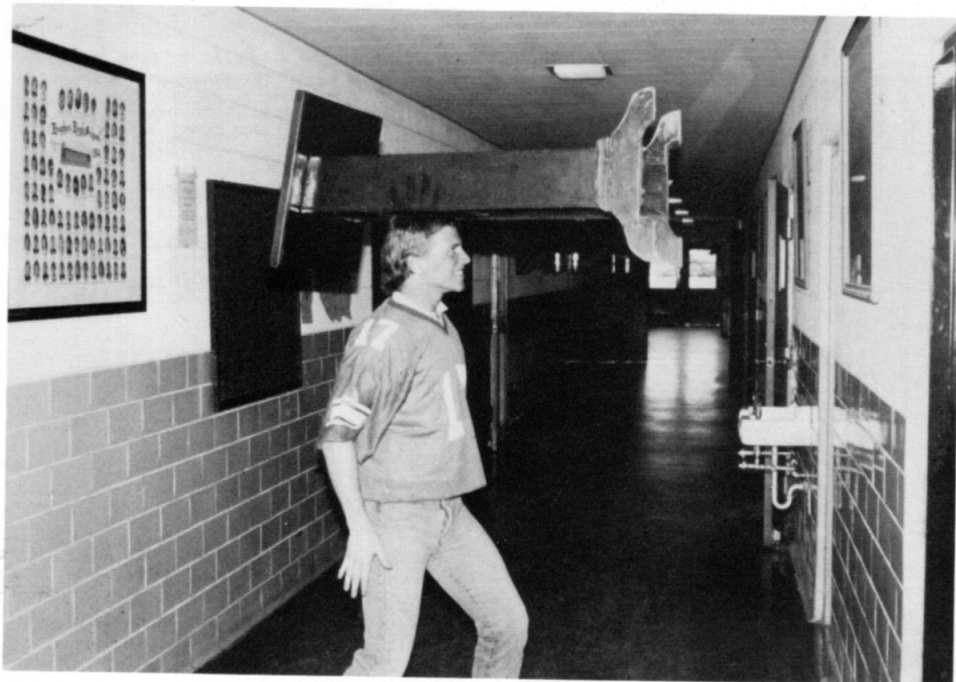

Left: Mandy makes the appearance of a "normal" junior, but we realize there's no such thing.

Below: Rather an unusual way to line up for lunch.

Why be norrrrmaaal?

With Tyler, we don't even mention the word normal.

Sometimes normal means the All-American Coke.

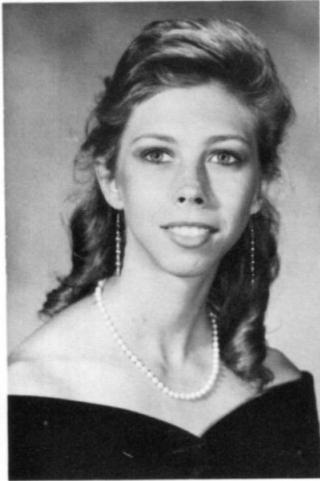

An empty hallway — not normal around here!

Mrs. Bennett says "normal" for the counselor's office is run, run, run.

Calvin Woodard

The "Senior Year" is far from normal.

The pace is frantic. Seniors order rings, invitations, caps and gowns. They search through college catalogs, wade through applications, prepare resumés. Their pictures are made, their grades are checked. They worry about grades, go to ball games, and dances. Yes, the "Senior Year" is anything but normal but,

"WHY BE NORMAL?"

FACULTY

Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Clyde Dorrrough

New Leadership

Hughes School operated this year under the leadership of a new superintendent, Mr. Clyde Dorrrough. Mr. Dorrrough came to us from southern Arkansas. He inherited our school, and with it a busy schedule. Among the challenges he was met with, was passing a mileage increase, finalizing plans to meet standards, and preparing for a North Central review next year.

Linda Estes

Administrative Assistant

As administrative assistant, Mrs. Estes found that her job description was inclusive of a variety of areas. She administered the Federal programs for the school district, kept herself quite busy with involvement on school committees, and was valuable in helping to document meeting the standards.

High School Principal, Mr. John Woodie

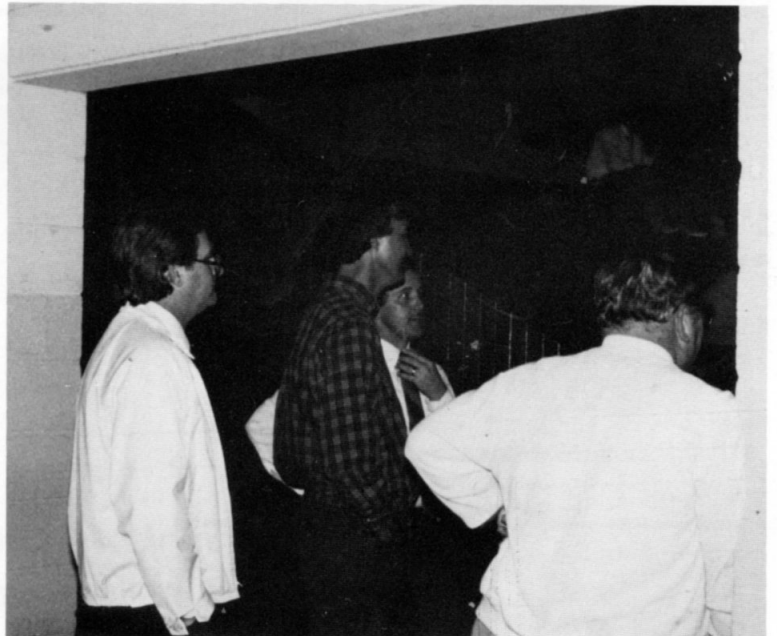

Principals provide leadership for our school through a variety of duties. These duties include being a disciplinarian, an instructional leader, and a plant manager.

Principals do more than just hand out punishment. Without good leadership from the principal, school functions would be virtually impossible.

*Junior High Principal
Mr. Arzell Robins*

From November through February you could be sure to catch the administrators on most weeknights at the gym. Supervision is an important duty for our administrators.

Secretaries are "behind the scenes" keeping up with daily routine tasks. It would be impossible to operate school without them.

Administrators have a tough job. They must see that quality education is taking place and still work on discipline, maintenance, and hundreds of other duties.

Why Be Normal?

Here at Hughes we have more than the normal activities going on. We have a better than average educational system that is "beefed up" with some interesting activities. We have a student Governor's School, students in summer programs for gifted students, band camp, sports camp, boy scout activities, school competitions and interesting class projects. Our school life at Hughes doesn't have to be normal. It's better!

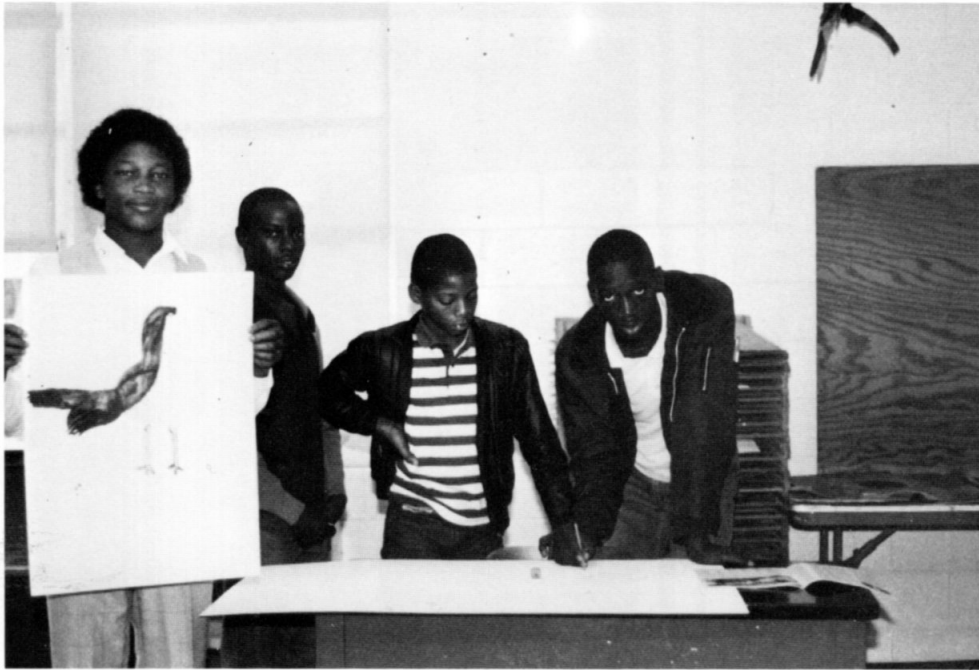

Award winning academic team

Students sharpen social studies skills with computers.

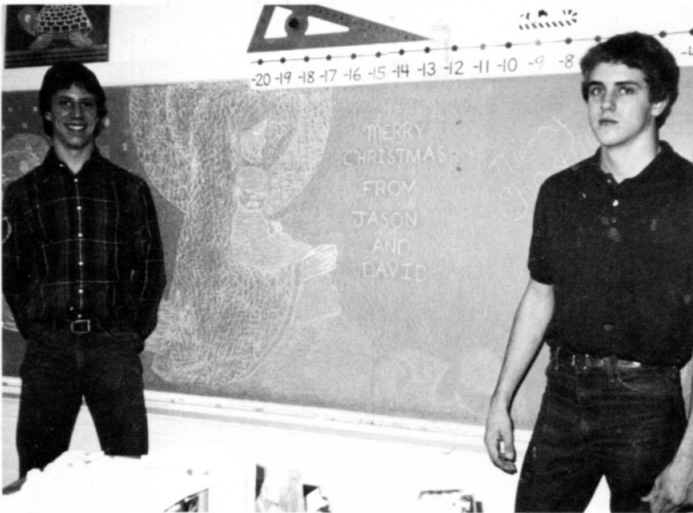

Junior high home ec. class prepares a Christmas feast.

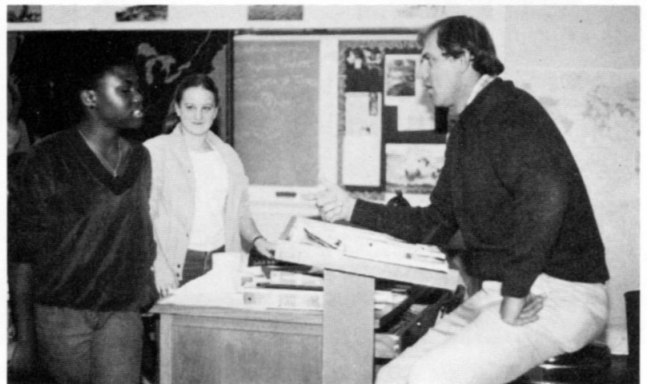

Students express creative abilities in art.

Students with interests in business are allowed to explore components of business world.

Geometry students create Christmas draws each year.

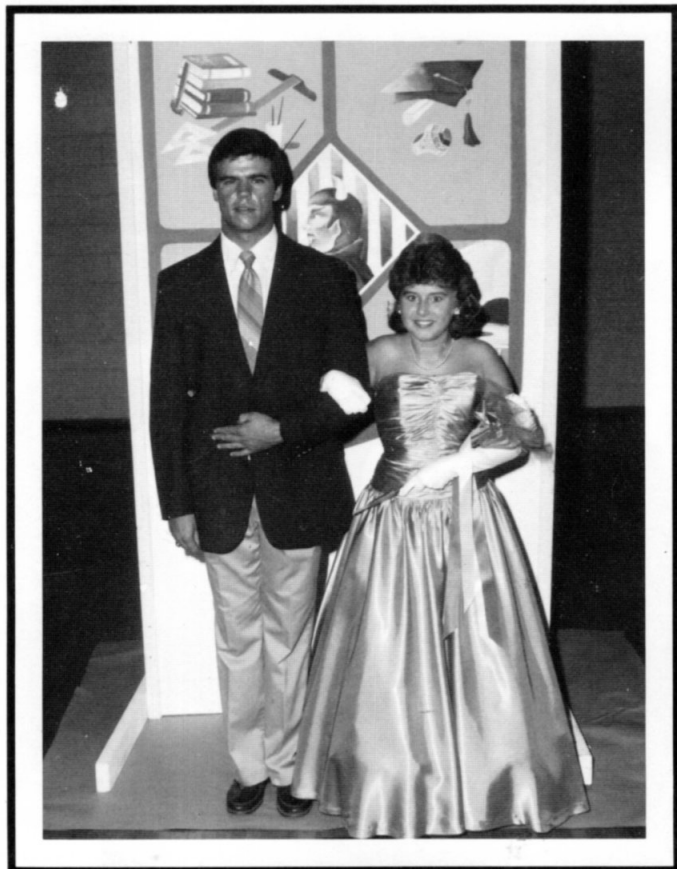

Social studies students review by means of a one-on-one competition in Coach Webb's class.

The month of April was certainly not normal for Hughes High School. Nineteen Austrian students visited our school. April was an exciting month for us all. We'll never forget this memorable visit.

Ernst Mair, Professor from Austria is welcomed by Adam Webb and Mr. Paul Kelly.

Professor Mair presents a book about Austria to Mr. Woodie for the school library.

The students found American school schedules to be very confusing the first day.

The month was filled with birthday parties trips to see Ramses, Mud Island, Gracejand, the zoo, the Arkansas State Capitol Building, Opryland, Universities, and everyday school and home life. The Austrian students became a part of our lives within days. We did not look forward to going back to our "normal routine" when they left.

Giving It All You've Got

Opening with losses against AAA schools, the Imps were determined to turn the season around. With steady leadership from veteran freshmen they were able to do just that. Long practices and a steely determination led the Imps to a season they could be proud of. The Imps found out how successful self motivation can be.

Lessons Learned

There's more to football than winning a game. Junior High football is a place for learning. It provides many learning experiences in a variety of ways. Players learn fundamentals necessary for playing football, but the learning does not stop there. They learn responsibility, both to themselves and to the team. Individuals learn to set goals and take sequential and logical steps to reach those goals. They learn about preparation, cooperation, and determination. What takes place on the practice field and in the locker room is as important as what takes place on the field.

It's tough to get the ball in against tall opponents.

Paula gets in for the rebound as Koleen attempts a basket

Spirit . . . Spirit . . . Spirit . . . Spirit . . .

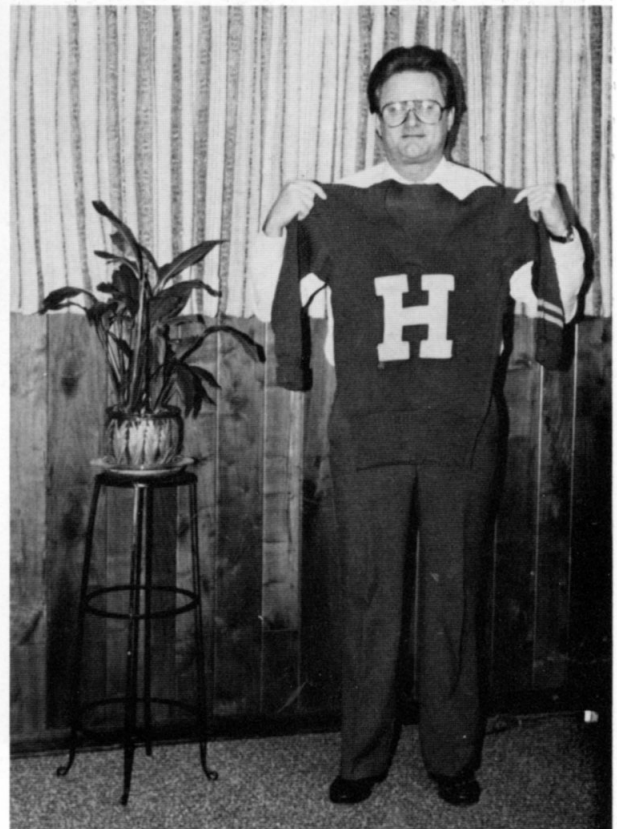

Cheerleaders stick it out in good times and bad times.

Spirit is roughing it out even in the cold.

Mr. Dorrrough displays a letter sweater earned by a Blue Devil in the 1940's.

Spirit . . . Spirit . . . Spirit . . . Spirit . . .

Football players always have plenty of spirit.

Devils break through the spirit line.

Spirited fans come in all ages.

Seniors Have SPIRIT!!
